Product Description:

The I-Fly Wasp is sure to be the latest craze in radio control flying. This I-Fly Wasp is probably the world's smallest radio controlled Flying Wasp in the form of an ornithopter. It features flapping wings but also incorporates an ingenious patented mechanism that alters the wing geometry to allow it to be turned both with the wings flapping and when gliding. This brilliant ornithopter can be flown indoors in a relatively small space and also outside in dead calm conditions. The I-Fly Wasp is particularly impressive when flown in the dark with its glowing LED eyes. It comes completely ready to fly with its own two channel radio control and has a range of up to 100 feet! The I-Fly Wasp is very robust with a flexible foam body and a useful set of replacement wings is included together with full operating instructions and a list of handy hints and tips. It comes complete with a lightweight lithium polymer battery that charges up from its integrated charger/controller gives approximately ten minutes of flight time from a 20-30 minute charge. Requires 6 AA alkaline batteries for the remote control unit (not included). Manufacturer:
